Singapore Law for Credit Agreements

Thursday, 30 April 2020
10.30 am—12.00 pm

SAL
SINGAPORE
ACADEMY
OF LAW

This seminar will discuss Singapore's status as a finance and legal hub for cross-border transactions. We will cover the general trend towards documenting cross-border deals under Singapore law, and analyse cross-border deal structures which employ Singapore SPVs. We will also cover some of the legal and practical implications of choosing Singapore law as the governing law, from an enforcement and restructuring perspective.

Registration: $80 (inclusive of GST)

Register online at: www.sal-e.org.sg

Register by Wednesday, 22 April 2020.

Speakers

Mr Gautam Narasimhan

Gautam Narasimhan is a banking partner in the Singapore office of Allen & Overy. His practice focuses on leveraged finance, structured finance and private equity in South and Southeast Asia, particularly in India, Indonesia, Vietnam and Singapore. He has advised many international banks, private equity funds and credit funds on numerous high-profile financings and structured transactions in the region, including some of the most significant acquisition financings on recent high value intra-Asia deals. Gautam is qualified in England, Singapore, New York and India.

Mr Prakash Segeran

Prakash Segeran is a banking partner in the Singapore office of Allen & Overy. He advises lenders and borrowers on a wide variety of debt transactions with a particular focus on property development finance, acquisition finance, Islamic finance and vessel finance matters. He regularly acts as Singapore law counsel on cross-border transactions across the ASEAN region as well as in China and India.
