Submission Deadline: 28 June 2024 (4pm SGT)

ABOUT THE PRIZE

Christopher Bathurst QC (1934-2009) was a member of Fountain Court Chambers and a leading practitioner at the Commercial Bar in London who developed a substantial practice in Southeast Asia, particularly Singapore. He was regarded by many practitioners in Singapore not just as a formidable advocate and adviser but also as a friend and mentor. His cases include the leading decision of Caparo v Dickman [1990] 2 AC 605 and after that he developed a substantial Singaporean arbitration practice. As Viscount Bledisloe, Christopher was an elected hereditary peer, and a popular and energetic cross-bench member of the House of Lords.

This Prize seeks to honour his memory.

Sponsored by Fountain Court Chambers.

THE CHRISTOPHER BATHURST PRIZE QUESTION 2024

In [Beltran and anor v Terraform Labs Pte Ltd and ors \[2023\] SGHC 340](#), the Singapore High Court had to consider a representative action in the context of online contracts incorporating arbitration clauses ([162] to [181]). As the use of online contracts continues to grow, how should the law evolve to address a situation where a prima facie case of an arbitration agreement is made out only in respect of some (but not all) of the claimants in a representative action? In what circumstances and to what extent should such an action be stayed in favour of arbitration?
