1. Definitions

- 1.1. Data and Digital Economy (D2E) legal practice. This is the practice of law relating to “online platforms, and activities that owe their existence to such platforms”, including “all activities that use digitised data”¹ and “economic activities that include using digitized information and knowledge as the key factor of production, modern information networks as an important activity space, and the effective use of information and communication technology (ICT) as an important driver of productivity growth and economic structural optimization”.²
- 1.2. Candidate. A legal professional who has applied to be an Accredited Specialist or a Senior Accredited Specialist and whose candidature has been confirmed by the SAL and is in the process of being assessed by the SAL.
- 1.3. Inhouse counsel. A lawyer who is employed by corporations, associations, non-profits and other public- and private-sector entities located in Singapore to work in-house on their legal matters.
- 1.4. Legal practitioner. Advocate and Solicitor of the Supreme Court of Singapore with a currently valid practising certificate.
- 1.5. Legal professional. Refers collectively to both legal practitioners and in-house counsel.

2. What this Guide Covers

- 2.1 The Specialist Accreditation Scheme attempts to apply the same accreditation framework, as set out in the Information for Applicants - General, across all practice areas.
- 2.2 In cases where there are additions to and/or deviations from the said accreditation framework for a particular practice area, a separate Guide for that practice area will state those variations.
